OUTRAGOUS DRIVING AND SAD RESULT .-Yesterday morning, while a number of persons were looking at the removal of a locomotive on a portable railway, at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and First st , a colored hackman came driving up at such a furious rate as to induce several persons to call to him to rein in his horses, but he drove on towards the crowd, careless of consequences, the spec tators getting out of the way as best they could. Three boys were knocked down by the Philip S. Schuyler, of Albany, distinguished horses, and unfortunately one of them, named in the Revolutionary war She lived to the Lewis Cass Harrod, about 6 years old, was run very advanced aged of ninety-seven years and over by the vehicle, and injured so as to endanger his life. Yesterday, it was thought by Drs. Hall and Holmead, and others, that he could not live. His brother, one of the other boys, about 8 years of age, narrowly escaped a like fate, and the third boy, named Harry Dougherty, was quickly seized by a son of Mr. Lowry, a clerk in the Post Office Department, and rescued from the wheels of the carriage. The driver, named Edward Adams, was soon and other passengers ran out on the platform, after arrested at the Depot, and committed to jail by Justice Beck, to await the issue of the Humphreys busied himself to allay the alarm, life or death of the injured youth. The hack had three passengers in and several heavy trunks on, rendering it wonderful with such a weight, that the boy was not instantly killed. A sad scene was exhibited in the mother's dwelling, a boarding house on B street, between Second and Third, when we observed the little sufferer gasping as though in the agonies of death—the afflicted mother almost which were being taken to Baltimore for a frenzied at the eight of her dying child, the eyes of all around suffused with tears, and scarcely a ray of hope beaming out for his safety. Mrs. Lowry, (the lady of the Mr. ation, frightened the passengers also, who, Lowry we have named,) was "a ministering from fear of the wild sort of beast, ran from angel" to the poor boy, not leaving his side all day, even for her meals, and we left her las: night, at 10 o'clock, still most kindly and skilfully attending to him, while other kind ladies and gentlemen also assisted in trying to whole party, passengers, officers, conductor, relieve his sufferings, and possibly save his monkeys, and all, went on their way to the life. The father is absent in California. We Monumental City amidst shouts of laughter. left him a little improved last night, and this morning he is better, giving, however, but faint hopes of his recovery. The driver will be made an example of, for all such reckless Jehus as this Adams, and our city contains through the streets totally careless of the lives and limbs of pedestrians.

THE FIRE ON THE AVENUE. - There were four houses destroyed by the fire on Pennsyl Mr Barbour, tinner; the adjoining one by dealers. Oysters are themselves again. Mr Kolb, confectioner; both of which belonged to Mr. Barbour. The other two, owned by Mr. Thos. W. Jones as a stove establishmen; two musicians and twenty privates left our the other by Mrs. O'Leary as a small fruit garrison for the U. S. ship Falmouth, at Norfolk, Va. insured, Mr. Barbour partly insured, and we learn that the occupants had no insurance The fire originated in Mrs. Kolb's confectionery, and broke out at ten minutes past twelve o'clock, spreading with such rapidity that the inmates had barely escaped with their lives. Very little was saved from the truly "devouring element," in this case. The firemen got there too late to do much for the sufferers, but in time to save the adjoining property. In the house of Mr. Kolb three German immigrants had just arrived the night before, and lost all of their effects One of them, a young woman, had between five and six hundred pieces of gold, and a gold watch, which were melted away amidst the flames. Altogether, the loss is estimated at about $10,000, and proves a serious calamity to some of the sufferers.

GETTING CLASSICAL.—"Old Joe," yesterday afternoon, coming from the depot, where he had not been drinking anything—because he could'nt get it—most positively insisted on erossing the Tiber at B s reet, where there is no bridge. His friend would not go with him, so he stepped boldly by himself on the stones which the boys run over so easily, and succeeded in getting about to the middle of the stream, when his equilibrium left him, and Roman, baptizing himself in the immortal Tiber. His hat floated away like a duck, an i he also was very near passing away to the gods, but a gentleman observing his "perdicamy," waded in, and, like another Cassius. saved the life of Cæsar. Seriously, he made a narrow escape from being drowned. He was so helplessly immersed in the creek that he could not say "bah!" Joe says that his dip in the Tiber has made him classical all over, and swears that he will eschew the glassical hereafter, and for all time. A good resolution, friend Joe, but be sure and stick to it, and not get again into such a puddle.

THE JULIEN BURLESQUE TROUPE -Another large and respectable audience, composed in part of an unusual number of ladies, witnessed the performance of the Juliens last night, at Odd Fellows' Hall. The ten Eastern darkies, in the first part; the miscellaneous with its singular solo, by Master Dixev, and the double bass solo by "Signor Boots-is shiny," were fine, but the burlesques of the famous Julien were superfine. Mons. Cartee imitates the great conductor to a T, convulsing the audience with the oddity of his excellent caricatures. The music of his orchestra, however, is no burlesque, many regarding it as equal to Julien's. The clarionet and cornet solos. were sweetly rendered, all the other parts were well executed; but the grand finale, giving Yankee Doodle with variations, for the penny trumpet, flute, &c., and roar of the basso, is a terrific crasher, indeed. Go and see this unequalled troupe.

TRADE WITH WASHINGTON AND THE NORTH. A letter from Washington to a distant paper,

"Merchants, as well as other business men of our three cities, are becoming impatient at the present slow and vexatious mode of packet transportation from the northern cities. It frequently happens that from ten to twenty days are lost in obtaining a freight from Bos ton, a little longer than the period necessary to receive it from Liverpool. New York and Philadelphia lines also afford ample time to their employers to entertain many unpleasant apprehensions of their safety. The sugges ion is then advanced-should not our cities, so intimately connected, and having a large and daily increasing trade into the interior, improve correspondingly with other important enterprises, and supercede said vessels by steamers."

· PAYENT OFFICE .- Workmen are now busily street, near L. engaged in arranging the medels in the model hall, east wing of the building, which, even now, attracts the attention of great numbers of citizens and strangers. It is a beautiful hall, and well arranged for the display of the models. The ceiling is certainly the greatest cheat, not to be a humbug, that we ever saw. No visitor who has noticed the ornamental work upon it would say it was other than stuccoe work, when the surface is perfectly plain and the ornaments all painted. The hall of the Exploring Expedition is growing in popularity, and is visited by large numbers of from ten to twenty-five per cent. Our steck comstrangers from all parts of the world. At pris-spresent great inconvenience is experienced by visitors from there being no catalogue of the articles on exhibition; but we are informed one is now being prepared and will be ready in a few weeks. PLANTING TREES ON THE AVENUE -Mr. Maher, the public gardener, having started from Rock Creek planting trees on Pennsylvania avenue, has progressed almost to the foot of the Capitol. The workmen take down the decayed trees and the English worm esten elms, and plant in their places those beautiful silver-leafed abeles, which adorn the Presi dent's and Capitol grounds, and other public squares They also fill up the vacant spaces with trees, which, when completed, will make the Avenue a rich parterre of trees in the spring. The workmen have a hard time with some of the old stumps, but by sturdy perse verance they are removed.

DANCING ACADEMY .- We would call the at tention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. John Cocheu, which will be found in another column. The reputation of the gentleman is such that we do not hesitate to recommend him to our citizens as a competent instructor to supply the place of Mr Lewis Carusi, who has retired from the profession.

DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED LADY .- We have Mrs. Alexander Hamilton, the venerated widow of General Alexander Hamilton, an aid to Gen. Washington in the Revolution, and the first Secretary of the Treasury of the United States. Notwithstanding the most skillful attentions of the attending physician, Dr. Hall, and the assiduous nursing of her affectionate daughter, Mrs. Holley, she expired yesterday morning. Her two sons, James A. and John C. Hamilton, Esq., of New York, were alropresent at her illness and death. The remains were taken to the depot this morning, and left fer New York, accompanied only by the fam three months, and died without a struggle, in full communion with the Episcopal church. and surrounded by her surviving children and a few particular friends.

afternoon, a few minutes before the departure of the five o'clock train for Baltimore, quite a consternation occurred in the cars. Ladies some gentlemen took to their heels, Conductor and the whole scene looked as though the affrighted crowd were trying to escape from an explosion of the engine or some other imminent danger. We approached an excited crowd near the baggage car, and there ascertained the cause of all the scampering Two

> In the local column of the Norfolk Daily Courier, the Edi-In the local column of the Norfolk Daily Courier, the Editor in speaking of this preparation says: It is certainly a great medicine, and within our own knowledge has restored those who were considered beyond all human aid. Time would fail to enumerate those cured of the various Chronic Diseases, Nervous Disorders, Ulcers, Putrid Throat, Fevers, Syphilis, Dyspepsia, Incapacitated Youths, Ague and Fever, &c., ad infinitum.

> IT SHOULD be universally known-for it is strictly true—that indigestion is the parent of a large proportion of the fatal diseases. Dysentery, diarrhosa, cholera morbus, liver complaint, and many other diseases enumerated in the city inspector's weekly catalogue of deaths, are generated by city inspector's weekly catalogue of deaths, are generated by indigestion alone. Think of that, dyspepties; think of it all who suffer from disordered stomachs, and if you are willing to be guided by advice, founded upon experience, resort at once—don't delay a day—to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, which, as an alterative, curative, and invigorant, stands alone and unapproached. We have tried the Bitters; and know that they are excellent for the diseases specified above.
